LACK SILK Grenadines.
NEAT FIGURES.

Make an ideal summer dress, light in weight, fashionable in appearance, and the price is only 49c yard.

Look over the lines that are selling elsewhere at $1 yard, compare them with this 49c line of ours. You will agree with us that $1 a yard is too much to pay when you can get just as good here for 49c a yard.

49c yard is the price of an ordinary India Silk, and these are incomparably superior.

A pattern of 14 yards at 49c—$6 86

Sunday School Convention.

Yesterday afternoon the pastors of the different Martin's Ferry churches and the superintendents of the Sunday schools met at the office of Dr. Will H. Hall to make arrangements for the second annual convention of the Belmont county Sunday school association to be held in Martin's Ferry May 14 and 15. A committee on entertainment was appointed consisting of three from each church. From 100 to 150 delegates are expected. The opening session will be held in the United Presbyterian church and the sessions the next day in the Presbyterian and Baptist churches with a popular meeting in the M. E. church that evening. Mrs. W. B. Porter, of Cleveland, and other prominent Sunday school workers will take part.

NEARLY A TRAGEDY.

Four People Narrowly Escape Drowning at Bellairs Landing.

A FRIGHTENED HORSE THE CAUSE

Of the Mishap, Jumped into the River From the Ferry Boat, and Dragged the Buggy With Four Occupants After Him—Prompt Work by an Eye Witness Saves Four Lives. The Accident Created Much Excitement.

Four people had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock at Bellairs. George Artz, of Benwood, accompanied by two ladies and a child, drove down to the ferry landing on the Ohio side of the river at Bellairs, directly opposite Benwood. The horse was rather spirited and Artz, who was driving, had some trouble in managing him. When the horse was going up on the float he became frightened, and, in spite of the efforts of Artz, jumped off the outside of the float into the river, the buggy with its four occupants following.

The river was several feet in depth where the accident occurred, and the buggy was partly overturned, throwing the four people into the river. The horse swam ashore, but the man, women and child were in a very dangerous position, Artz having been cut on the nose and partly stunned. But for the prompt action of a man on the saw-mill boat, Hattie K., which was moored just above the float, one or more lives would probably have been lost. The man promptly came to the rescue in a skill, and soon had the four people safe in his craft. The accident created great excitement along the river front at Bellairs.

ANNIE'S ANTICS.

The Notorious Annie Costello Gets Out of Jail Only to Go Back Again.

The notorious Annie Costello, who has given the police of this city more trouble than Cleopatra did Rome, was on one of her tantrums yesterday, and as usual broke all rules of propriety and decency. Annie, unlike the great Egyptian disturber of the peace, has not been impervious to time and whiskey, for whatever charms she might have had have long since faded.

Yesterday morning she had completed a thirty days' sentence in jail, and when let out she called at police headquarters for a basket she had left there when incarcerated. Little did the police think they would see her so soon again as they did. The "gentle" Annie wended her way over on the South Side and to show her rich imperial blood proceeded to dissolve pearls in bad whiskey for the edification of the populace of that aristocratic faubourg.

As blood will tell, so it is that whiskey gives valuable information on occasions, and do what she would Annie could not disguise the fact from Officer Babb that she was drunk. The chariot of state was called for and she was driven to the palace in royal style. When she reached the barred gates the trouble began, it always does when she gets that near her old quarters. On this occasion she insisted on being billeted in the throne room. She was told that her visit was entirely unexpected and that she would have to put up with whatever accommodations were available.

In the melee that followed the outbreak of her royal temper, which was profusely decorated with oaths that would have made a fishwoman turn pale, she came near biting Officer Babb's thumb off. She kept up the hallucination all of yesterday that she was Queen of the May by reviling everyone who happened to pass her cell.

Annie will attend the court reception to be given by his honor, the mayor of the municipality, this morning, when, no doubt, the usual hospitality befitting her rank will be extended, and arrangements made for her entertainment at the castle for the next thirty days.

It Did the Business.

Mr. J. H. Cobb, publisher of the Mirror, at Brocton, N. Y., says: "For nearly two years the Mirror has been publishing the advertisements of Chamberlain's Remedies. A few days ago the writer was suffering from a bowel trouble and resorted to an old remedy, which did not prove efficacious; finally he tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and two doses did the business, checking it completely."

FINE SUITS—THE HUB CLOTHIERS.

At Last the Deed
Is Done!

All things comes to him who waits. But ours hasn't been an idle waiting. We never worked harder—more persistently. But now in the bright dawn of a new season comes the crimson sun of success. Close your account at the cheap tailors. You can forever turn your back on the troubles and trials of bothering with measures and putting up with vexatious delays. The height of our ambition has been realized. We have just received from the manufacturers a line of SUITS you would never dare to think could sell for less than $15 to $18—Garments that if the to-order shops offered to produce their like at $18 or even $20 you'd think it a dirt cheap bargain—and our price is only—

$10.00 and $12.00!

We'll confess a sacrifice of part of the profit, to the end that we might command better fabrics—we'll confess to the employment of the same skill, talent and patterns that have made our fine grades the peers of all tailoring possibilities. What concessions cold cash and large orders could command from the manufacturers we have turned into bettering the linings and the trimmings. We want every man's honest and candid opinion of these SUITS. No matter if you've already supplied yourself, pass judgement on them. If you're still on the hunt for the biggest money's worth, you've struck the scent—brought the game to bay—you've only to single out your preference from the immense variety—and go forth clad in garments that will disarm criticism, wring astonished praise from tongues that know value and appreciate the worth of it.
